Born in Honolulu in 1961, Quentin Kawanana Kōa continues his family legacy of public service to the people of Hawaii. He is the son of Edward “Dudie” Kawanana Kōa and Carolyn Willison. He is a descendant of Prince David and Princess Abigail Kawanana Kōa, and related to Prince Jonah Kuhio Kalanianaʻole, Hawaii’s first Congressman who served for 20 years.

Growing up in Kailua, Oahu, Quentin attended Kainalu Elementary and Punahou School. Quentin graduated from the University of Southern California, with a Bachelor of Science degree and the William S. Richardson, School of Law in 1992. .

Quentin was a founding member of the Native Hawaiian Bar Association. His public service includes: member of the United States Civil Rights Commission Advisory Committee; Past President of the Prince Kuhio Hawaiian Civic Club; Board Member of The Friends of Iolani Palace; Regent of Hale O Na Aliʻi O Hawaiʻi; Board Member & Advisory Committee of the Moanalua Gardens Foundation and a contributing member to the James and Abigail Campbell Foundation.

Quentin has just completed his term as an Oahu Commissioner of the Hawaiian Homes Commission, helping the Department of Hawaiian Homelands (DHHL) to effectively manage the Hawaiian Home Lands trust and to develop and deliver land to native Hawaiians. Today, DHHL is the largest developer in the Kapolei region and will develop over 1,200 homes in the next few years.

He resides in Lanikai with his wife Liz and two sons.
